Circulation: c.13,000

Frequency: Weekly (Wednesday)

Source: Circulated to some 13,000 professionals through a collaboration between Flightglobal and sister company Reed Exhibitions, which runs the premier Asian Aerospace show.

Description

In a unique venture in foreign-language publishing, Flightglobal brings together a weekly collection of the key premium headlines translated into simplified Chinese script. For the first time, professionals within mainland China's fast-growing aviation and aerospace sector can receive a taste of our premium air transport news service in Chinese delivered direct to their desktop.

The news is taken from the group's leading Air Transport Intelligence online premium news and data service. This ranges from latest airline news affecting the region, as well as world news on air transport operations, air safety, aircraft technology and much more.

The e-newsletter is distributed to an audience of some 13,000 professionals. That audience comes through a collaboration between Flightglobal and its sister company Reed Exhibitions, which runs the premier Asian Aerospace show.

NOTE: Although there are many different spoken languages within China, the written form is standardised on simplified Chinese. This is an updated version of the traditional Chinese script, which is still used by communities outside the mainland.
