Across the Caribbean, a swathe of villas have opened over the past year, offering the convenience, comfort and privacy of home and an ideal base for beach trips, rainforest adventures and everything in between.

Discover our pick of the Caribbean's hottest properties, from family-friendly villas within bigger resorts to intimate boltholes set deep in nature, and pick up some handy selling tips from operators who know the islands inside out.

BEST FOR...UNDER-12S

Treasure Beach Village at Beaches Turks and Caicos will open on March 1. A handful of four-bedroom villas on the white sands of Grace Bay will house up to 10 guests each, offering an easy place from which to enjoy all the amenities the resort has to offer.

Leah Marshall, director of sales at Unique Vacations, says: "With a coffee shop that turns into a cocktail bar, a 32-seat cinema and an infinity pool featuring a swim-up bar and cabanas – plus waterslides and splash pads – Treasure Beach Village is like a whole new resort.

"The biggest suites are the Treasure Beach Crystal Sky Four-Bedroom Reserve Villas. Clients can enjoy ocean views from the roof terrace, which comes with its own private pool. If that's not enough, their every whim will be taken care of by personal butlers."

Book it: A seven-night all-inclusive stay for a family of eight in a Treasure Beach Crystal Sky Four-Bedroom Reserve Villa costs from £36,235 per family, based on four adults, two children and two infants sharing. Includes transfers and flights from Heathrow on October 25. sellingsandals.co.uk

Or try: Saint Lucian brand Bay Gardens Resorts is opening Sapphire Sands Villas in Rodney Bay this week, offering one, two and three-bedroom villas, an Asian-Caribbean fusion restaurant and access to the Coral Kidz Club at the adjacent Bay Gardens Beach Resort. Unlimited access to the Splash Island Water Park adds an extra kid-friendly USP.

Sackville Travel sells a seven-night stay from £14,970 for six sharing a Three Bedroom Beachfront Villa With Pool. Includes breakfast, transfers and flights from Gatwick, selected departures between July 20 and August 30. sackvilletravel.com

BEST FOR...TEENS

A recent addition to the Oliver's Travels portfolio is Villa Maximin in the British Virgin Islands. Within a 15-minute walk of wild Trunk Bay beach and a 20-minute drive from Tortola's airport, Villa Maximin is formed of two separate buildings with a pool each, so teens can splash about away from the grown-ups. Two barbecue areas overlooking the turquoise ocean are prime territory for memorable group feasts, but a chef can be hired, taking the stress out of catering for fussy eaters.

Fern Higgins, partnerships lead at villa specialist Oliver's Travels, says interest in the area is rising: "We've experienced 10 times the number of price checks for the British Virgin Islands this peaks period, compared with last year."

BEST FOR...FRIENDS

Half Moon resort in Jamaica's Montego Bay area has renovated its 19 villas and these opened in December, ahead of the main resort, following Hurricane Melissa. They now feature poolside cabanas with TVs, expanded alfresco dining areas and infinity pools.

That's not all. A new yoga pavilion exclusive to The Villas is ideal for friends to practise together, while access to Half Moon's fitness and sports facilities offers heart-pumping activities for groups to get into: they can explore on complimentary rental bikes, try watersports including pedal boats and Padi diving courses, or get their game on at the tennis and padel courts.

Sharon Booker, senior product executive for the Caribbean at Inspiring Travel, says: "Staying at the Villas at Half Moon is like having Jamaica's best playground outside your door: golf, tennis, pickleball, an equestrian centre, every watersport you can imagine, plus trails, fitness classes and endless beach time."

Book it: Inspiring Travel sells a seven-night stay at The Villas at Half Moon from £4,165 per person, based on 12 adults sharing a Six Bedroom Garden Villa. Includes breakfast, transfers and flights departing September 1. inspiringtravel.co.uk
